Suncor Energy announces Kent Ferguson as new Senior Vice President of Strategy, Sustainability and Corporate Development

Calgary, Alberta (December 7, 2023) – Suncor (TSX: SU) (NYSE: SU) announced today that Kent Ferguson will be joining the company in January 2024 as Senior Vice President, Strategy, Sustainability and Corporate Development, reporting directly to Rich Kruger, President and CEO. The appointment of Kent concludes the reconfiguration of Suncor’s executive leadership team.

Kent brings over 25 years of energy industry experience to the role, including an extensive understanding of the Canadian market. Throughout his career at RBC, Kent has had a variety of roles leading global and energy market activities. His most recent position was the Managing Director and Co-Head of Global Energy at RBC Capital Markets. While with RBC, Kent served as a driving force on a number of key initiatives including Indigenous finance, climate change, emissions, energy policy, sustainable finance, environmental markets, energy transition, as well as diversity and inclusion.

“Kent will be an outstanding addition to our executive leadership team,” says Rich Kruger. “His expertise in strategy development and assessing shareholder value will be an excellent addition to the company’s senior executive capabilities. He is well prepared to integrate our business planning, development, sustainability, and commercial functions to drive our organization’s strategy into the future.”

Kent is a CFA, charter holder, CFA Institute and holds a Bachelor of Commerce degree from the University of Saskatchewan.
